³Hedging is an investing strategy aimed at reducing risks caused by adverse or volatile price movement of an asset such as currencies.

Currency Hedged Share Class Risk: If the shares of a share class can be subscribed and redeemed in a currency other than the base currency of the sub-fund, which is USD, a fluctuation in exchange rates could cause the value of an investment made by shareholders to diminish or increase irrespective of performance and therefore substantially impact the performance of such share class expressed in the corresponding share class currency. Currency hedged share classes are offered to investors with the aim to mitigate currency risks by hedging the currency exposures of the portfolio to the relevant share class currency. To the extent these hedging transactions are imperfect or are only placed over a portion of the foreign exchange exposure, such share class will bear the resulting benefit or loss. There is no guarantee, however, that it will be possible to remove all currency exposure nor the effectiveness of a hedging instrument shall remain throughout the term of the underlying investment.
