These policies help ensure that the relevant customer elements of the Group Code of Business Conduct are met in addition to local regulatory requirements.

I. Group Code of Business Conduct

We are committed to creating long-term value for our shareholders and wider society. As investors we believe that by helping people meet their financial needs, pooling savings and making investments, we help to drive the cycle of growth. To support future growth, we know that we must:

1. communicate our business strategy, achievements and prospects honestly;
2. keep accounting records which accurately disclose the financial position of the business and issue financial statements to ensure transparency of information on the Group's financial performance;
3. provide full, fair, accurate, timely and understandable disclosure in reports and documents that the Group releases and/or files or submits to appropriate authorities and comply with all laws and regulations, such as the UK and HK Listing Rules and the US Sarbanes-Oxley Act.

D. Our People

We create an environment where individuals are treated with dignity and respect, in line with our duty to provide equal opportunities to all. We also recognise that a diversity of skill sets and backgrounds enrich our business, and that leveraging the unique strength of each person is crucial to our success. To achieve this environment, we commit to:

E. Our Communities

We make long-term commitments to the communities and economies where we operate. We believe that if we act responsibly across all aspects of our operations, we will make a strong social and environmental contribution, as well as deliver a sustainable financial performance. 4. conduct our activities, so far as possible, in a manner sensitive to the cultural and social traditions of local communities.

Along with compliance with this Code, each of the Group's businesses must operate with the requirements of the Group Governance Manual.

II. Regional Suitability Framework

Customer suitability has become a key regulatory focus across the region, either as an integral part of customer protection or as a separate set of regulations. The rapidly evolving regulations require financial institutions to uphold a high degree of customer protection in its business operations. Increasing regulatory focus on suitability is observed in different markets (e.g. in Singapore, Hong Kong, Malaysia, and Indonesia) and new regulatory requirements are reshaping the landscape of the insurance industry. It is imperative that all Prudential Corporations Asia (“PCA”) insurance businesses are able to demonstrate that a prudent and proactive approach is undertaken to address evolving customer expectations and regulatory requirements in the area of customer suitability.

The Regional Suitability Framework (“the Framework”) aims to mitigate the risk of mis-selling to customers, a key operational risk identified for PCA. It sets out PCA’s goal and principles in addressing the topic of customer suitability for its insurance businesses.

PCA seeks to build a model to align our products to customer needs with an assessment of their suitability, whilst striving to meet global best practices and also to stay ahead of the regulatory requirements on suitability across the region.

The PCA Suitability Principles:

1. Transparency - We provide adequate disclosure that is fair, clear and not mis-leading in relation to the key benefits, risks, charges and features of our products.
2. Fair Customer Outcomes - We offer appropriate advice and products to customers in consideration of their financial needs, objectives and background to enable them to make an informed purchase decision.
3. Prudence - We continuously align our products, policies and standards to customer and regulatory expectations on suitability.
4. Fit and Proper - We ensure all sales force are qualified and fulfil requirements of fitness and propriety.

III. Group Customer Risk Policy

Helping our customers achieve their insurance and financial needs through our products and services lies at the heart of the Group’s business strategy. The values and standards for how the Group deals with its customers are laid out in the Group Code of Business Conduct. All employees and other persons acting on behalf of the Group are required to uphold and follow these standards.

The Code includes five customer commitments. These commitments are consistent with regulatory standards in most jurisdictions and so policies and procedures to meet these standards are already in place in most BUs. This policy however address two issues – firstly that the nature and complexity of regulatory standards varies significantly across the Group and therefore cannot exclusively be relied upon as evidence the Group is meeting its commitments and secondly to enable consistent reporting on these commitments to the Board so that it can determine whether the Group is acting within appetite.

A. Policy Objectives

The objective of this Policy is to require Business Units such as Pru Life UK to:

- identify and assess the main risks to achieving the customer commitments in the Code and the key controls they have in place to manage those risks; and
- report on the effectiveness of those key controls so they can be reviewed by the Prudential plc Board.

B. Scope of Application

This Policy forms part of the Group Governance Manual (GGM). Certification of compliance with this Policy is included in the certifications required by the GGM. This Policy applies to Business Units such as Pru Life UK that deal directly or indirectly with retail customers.

Business Units are required to:

Ref.:	Requirement	Applies to:
GCRP 1	determine whether this Policy applies and, if so, the extent to which it applies, to the Business Unit given the nature of its activities and customers, in consultation with Group Compliance.	BUs
GCRP 2	adopt policies and procedures that implement the requirements of this Policy.	BUs

GCRP 3	review the Policy at least annually.	GC

D. Customer Risk Management Framework

1. Customer Risk Definition

Customer risk is defined as “The risk of the Group being unable to achieve the customer commitments in the Group Code of Business Conduct”.

2. Customer Risk Categories

The Code sets out five principal customer commitments that the Prudential plc Board wishes to achieve. This Policy seeks to manage the risks to achieving these commitments and allow the Group to report to the Board against them. The customer commitments should be evaluated in relation to the local business and regulatory environment.

a. “Treat customers fairly, openly and honestly”

Business Units need to consider where there is a risk that they may fall short of this requirement and what controls are in place to mitigate this risk, particularly in relation to sales processes and conflicts of interest.

b. “Provide and promote a range of products and services that meet customer needs, are easy to understand and that deliver real value”

Although many of the financial needs and objectives that customers have are simple, the products we design may be complex from a customer’s perspective. This complexity may make it difficult for a customer to understand the costs and value of the product, and how to best utilise the products to avoid poor outcomes. Business Units need to consider product design, the quality of their communications with customers and the value that products are likely to bring to customers, given the variety of factors involved, for example, customer behaviour or expected long term market returns.

- c. “Maintain the confidentiality of our customer information (except where the law requires disclosure)”

Customers trust us and our representatives with their personal information and as a Group, we have a duty to ensure we properly safeguard it, both where we hold it on our systems and where it is handled by our representatives.

- d. “Provide and promote high standards of customer service and monitor these standards rigorously”

Consistent, ongoing, high-quality service is important for the maintenance and growth of our businesses. Business Units should have in place a comprehensive suite of customer service metrics which covers the relevant customer lifecycle.

- e. “Ensure that our complaints processes provide an effective and fair means of arbitration between the Group’s business and customers”

Customer complaints are an invaluable source of feedback about the quality and success of our business. BUs should consider whether they have in place mechanisms to ensure that all complaints are identified and addressed fairly. Business Units should also have processes for analysing complaints to understand their underlying cause with the aim of reducing the overall number of complaints.

Business Units are required to:

Ref.:	Requirement	Applies to:
GCRP 4	identify risks to the five customer commitments in the Group Code of Business Conduct.	BUs

3. Customer risk and control assessment

Based on the Code’s customer commitments, a customer risk and control assessment (CRCA) should be undertaken. The assessment should be risk-based and aim to identify the key customer risks and the relevant internal controls designed to manage those risks. It should also consider the effectiveness of those controls. The CRCA may leverage from existing operational risk processes where appropriate.

Business Units are required to:

Ref.:	Requirement	Applies to:
GCRP 5	periodically undertake a customer risk and control assessment and report its findings to the Business Unit Board and relevant Business Unit committees. The need for the assessment should be reviewed at least annually.	BUs

4. Management Information and Reporting

Regular reporting of customer-related information is required in order that Group Compliance and the Prudential Board can properly exercise oversight in respect of the management of customer risk across the Group.

Business Units are required to:

Ref.:	Requirement	Applies to:
GCRP 6	maintain appropriate arrangements for regular reporting to Business Unit management on customer risks.	BUs
GCRP 7	submit the LBU and/or Business Unit CRCA to Group Compliance.	BUs

5. Role of Group Compliance

Group Compliance is required to:

Ref.:	Requirement	Applies to:
GCRP 8	consult with BU's and other key stakeholders on the appropriate form and content of customer risk reporting.	GC
GCRP 9	coordinate the production of aggregate customer-related MI material for the Group governance committees and Board.	GC

C. Measuring and Reporting on our Health and Safety Performance

We will monitor and review our health and safety performance against our health and safety principles and commitments set out in this policy and reporting requirements set out in Table B of the Group Governance Manual.

We will investigate those work-related accidents, incidents and occurrences of ill-health that do occur to identify any immediate and root causes that require attention to reduce their number and severity.
